INFO AND TIPS

The slippers are worked in garter stitch, back and forth on single pointed knitting needles. When they have been sewn together, they are washed in the washing machine so that the wool is felted.

Repeat the process if the slippers are too big; if they are too small, they can be resized by stretching the slippers while they are still wet.

The yarn can be joined by splicing two ends together.

After drying, you can cut into the slippers without them fraying.

You may apply Sock Stop or latex rubber milk under the sole at the end.

Cut the yarn leaving a long tail. Pull the tail through the sts on your needle.

Assembly

Sew the foot together until the slit.

Sew the heel (the cast-on edge) together.

That was the first slipper.

Work another slipper in the same way and wash them both in the washing machine.

Felting

Put the slippers in the washing machine and wash on warm (40°C/approx. 104°F) with a little soap. Also place a dish cloth or a ball in the machine.

Take them out of the machine and fill them with paper or let your child wear them until they fit.

Then let them air-dry.

NOTE

Washing machines and how hot the water gets may vary.

If the slippers don't turn out felted enough then wash them once more on warm. If they are too small then pull them into shape until they fit. The slippers can expand several shoe sizes when wet.
